

Now

With F.M.L.

We're glad to see the "laughing stock" status of Milam County Jail finally has been noted in a sweeping proposal for jail improvements throughout Texas.

A ruling from Federal Dist. Judge Sarah Hughes, Dallas, brought notice last week that things have to improve here. The letter was written by officials of the Texas Civil Liberties Union.

It was seven years ago that some elected public officials went beyond their role as private citizens to combat passage of a necessary jail construction program and courthouse remodeling, the interior of which since has been improved.

The attitude has changed in the ensuing years. And it should.

The present jail would make an excellent museum. Some work would have to be done on the interior.

County Judge Harden says some $62,000 will be available after the new county fiscal year for construction. It is the only viable solution. And with urban renewal clearing lots around the downtown community, it should be easy to locate a modern jail and courthouse annex, if needed, in the vicinity of the present courthouse.

This is another chapter that has taken too long to write, but is written, in the modernization of Cameron.

OLD EQUIPMENT rusts away in this weed-grown lot, which also has a grazing pony with subsequent barnyard smell. This is just a block from downtown. Lot owners will be encouraged to clean up and mow in a city-wide drive.

RAMSHACKLE HOUSE is slowly collapsing while weeds and shrubs are taking over the lot, one on North Austin. Such buildings will be subject to condemnation by the city if they are not torn down by owners. This is just one of many old buildings criticized by HUD officials on their tour of the city.

'Pot' Mystery Deepens, 3 Smugglers Sought

The mystery was still a mystery at presstime as to the identity of the marihuana smuggler who reportedly got off a plane at the Cameron airport early Wednesday morning and disappeared.

Customs agents say three men were involved in the smuggling of some 2500 pounds of marihuana out of Mexico. The plane reportedly stopped at Cameron, where one of the men got off, and went on to McGregor where about 1000 pounds of "grass" were dumped, and from there to Hillsboro where they abandoned the plane and its contents and left in a car with two other men.

Cameron police say they had no orders to be on the lookout for a man, and the Sheriff's Department said the same thing. Sheriff Carl Black said messages on the teletype at his office warned lawmen to be on the lookout for a plane within a 400 mile radius of Cameron, but no mention was made about a man getting off the plane in Cameron.

U. S. Customs agents were contemplating where to store the marihuana as they searched for three known smugglers.

Special agent Robert A. Stevenson of Houston, in charge of the U. S. Customs Service in the Houston district, said Customs knew who the three were but hadn't made any arrests and the names would not be publicized until they were arrested.

The rented plane with the three reportedly left Mexico at 2:30 a.m. Wednesday. It made a stop near the border before coming into the Cameron airport.

The marihuana was in pink plastic bags, and Stevenson said samples of the marihuana were sent to the lab in San Antonio to determine if it is actually marihuana.

Adding to the mystery was a phone call to the police chief at Hearne. The called said he was a U. S. Customs Service agent named Burk. He said that three men had taken his plane away from him at Cameron.

Customs authorities said they had no agent named Burk.

But one man did get off at Cameron, Stevenson said.

There were no calls from the airport for gasoline, which is obtained by calling City Hall for someone to bring the key to the fuel pump.

Junked Cars Due Removal In City

The city is sending out letters to owners of junked cars, according to Edwin Bigbee, city code inspector. The police are getting locations of junk cars as they patrol the streets.

The letter will state whether the car is junked, abandoned, dismantled, discarded, partially dismantled, wrecked, inoperative, or not properly licensed.

The letter continues: "In order to abate or remove the above public nuisance, you should within ten days from receipt of this letter of notification, take the following action:

"Place the above described motor vehicle in an enclosed building or remove said vehicle to a site where said motor vehicle may be lawfully placed, for instance a legally operated junk yard. Or have affixed hereto, both current year license plates and a valid safety inspection sticker, or within ten days give your written permission to the Chief of Police or his authorized agent to remove the junked vehicle from the premises described."

If car owners refuse to comply with the notice within ten days after notification, the Chief of Police or his authorized agent will take possession of the vehicle and remove it.

If owners desire, within the 10 day period, to appear before the judge of the corporation court for a trial to determine whether he is in violation of the ordinance, he may ask for such a trial in writing to the city clerk.

The letter ends, "If you are found to be in violation of the ordinance you shall be found guilty of a

A thorough cleanup of Cameron is in the works following a meeting of city department heads and other city leaders Thursday. The cleanup would involve the efforts of city, county, and state personnel and equipment.

The leaders met to discuss city codes and ordinances which are not being enforced, particularly those governing the cleaning up of junk from around homes and empty lots.

Edwin Bigbee, the city code inspector, called the meeting which was attended by Rod Holcombe, city sanitation; Mayor Gene Blake, A. W. McCullin, urban renewal executive director; A. E. Matula, UR rehabilitation director; Alvin Heft, city water superintendent; James Hale, city works superintendent; Ed Magre, city attorney; and John Parsons, head of the local Texas Highway Department office.

Bigbee explained that the city had adopted the Southern Building Code, and that the code includes regulations about such eyesores as junk cars, delapidated or burned out buildings, and public nuisances such as livestock being kept in residential districts.

Bigbee said it was "down to the question of strict enforcement" of the code regulations. He showed forms drawn up to be used in complaints of code violations. He said letters are now going out to owners of junked cars (see separate story) in an effort to clean these up.

Others at the meeting noted several instances of junk piled on vacant lots, and weeds grown high without being mowed. Another item was old tires which collect water and breed mosquitoes.

The cleanup plan would involve city trucks, county trucks, and state highway equipment. Bryan's cleanup was noted, which had college students helping load up junk and unload it at a chosen dump site.

Cameron's cleanup could be helped by high school students working along with city, county, and state workers to carry off junk.

No definite date was set for the city-wide cleanup, as details will be worked out before announcement of the event.

McCullin said this was one thing HUD people have complained about -- that the city is not enforcing its codes and ordinances and cleaning up junk.

"This will hurt us badly when we want to participate in government programs," he noted.

The weed situation came under discussion more than once, with Blake saying his office receives many calls about weedy lots. It was decided that anyone who mows vacant lots could call either city hall or the Chamber of Commerce and leave their name and phone number. Then lot owners could contact the chamber or city hall and obtain mowing services.

Pigeon-Toed Horse Is Lost

A pigeon-toed horse? Apparently there are such animals according to Mike Knibbe of Rogers, who placed an ad in this issue of The Herald about two lost horses.

One is described as "one mare, dark bay with streaked forehead, pigeon-toed in front and right front foot has recent barbed wire cut." Maybe from pigeon-toeing into a fence.

The lost horses are reported to be from Red Ranger vicinity.

Sawed-off Shotguns Issued

HEARNE

Wolf Falls To Helicopter

GEORGETOWN

Public Enemy #1, the big one they'd been after for so long, was felled by trapper Floyd Willis's gun last week -- from a helicopter. The old wolf was an educated wolf, and he had been successfully dodging the ranchers, the traps, and any device to eliminate him for a long time, going about his business destroying sheep, goats, and calves. Several wolves have been killed this way since the county commissioners gave permission for the helicopter to be used.

Funds Voted For Sommerville

SOMERVILLE

A compromise House-Senate federal public works bill includes more than a half-million dollars for facilities at the Somerville Reservoir, U. S. Rep. Jack Pickle said. He cited a critical shortage of health and sanitation facilities at the Reservoir with a drop in visitations from an all-time high of 3.7 million in 1969 to 2.5 million in 1971. Pickle said the funds would provide for more paved roads, sanitary dump stations, waterlines, parking areas, toilets, service buildings and drinking fountains.

Caldwell Grants Rate Increase

CALDWELL

The Caldwell City Council has approved an ordinance granting a rate increase to the Lone Star Gas Co. for services within the city. The rate ordinance provides for automatic rate changes corresponding to changes in the intra-company city gate charge as authorized by the Texas Railroad Commission and provides for the company to have the right to pass on to the consumer any new tax, increase in tax or fee levied against the company.

Factory Produces First Mobile Home

McGREGOR

Delbrook Homes, McGregor's new entry in the mobile home race, produced its first coach last week, just 28 days after "hitting the ground running." Since then the company has turned out 12 units, all 14 x 70, 3 bedroom, two bath models.

Centennial Date Set

ROCKDALE

Rockdale's Centennial Celebration in 1973 will open on Wednesday, May 30, and continue through Sunday, June 3, date of the annual Rockdale Homecoming. The date was set by a newly organized steering committee.

A "leak" in the television cable at Rosebud is being blamed in some instances for interfering with residents sets who are no on the cable. The possibility of electronic wave leaks is being checked. # Latin America May Be Next Source Of Heroin

By Robert Trautman

WASHINGTON

Fears are growing among administration officials here that, as they choke off the flow of heroin from Europe and the Middle East, traffickers from the Latin American countries will move in to supply American addicts.

A strategic intelligence report being circulated among narcotics experts within the U.S. government says "The heroin dealer, like any businessman, will use the most economical and safe channels to get his goods to market. This channel, with increasing frequency, has included Latin America."

The intelligence report, prepared by the Bureau of Narcotics and Dangerous Drugs, noted that in some poor countries entire segments of economic life are built around smuggling.

"Rare attempts of the central governments concerned to suppress such activity have sometimes been met with open armed rebellion, and have been quickly called off," it said.

The narcotics officials say that while overall Latin American cooperation in international narcotics control is generally good, governments there usually report that other pressing problems hold higher priority - including poverty and insurgency. Moreover, they say, Latin governments are also inexperienced in tracking down drug runners.

However, Mexican government cooperation, the officials say, has been outstanding. At one point, Mexico committed one-fifth of its army to searching for and destroying poppy and marijuana fields.

Narcotics experts said that Latin traffic is taking on greater significance as Turkey has begun to halt poppy growing and the French government has shown greater cooperation in seizing and shutting down heroin manufacturing operations in Marseilles.

The Asian production of opium and heroin, formerly produced for the hundreds of thousands of American soldiers in Indochina, but now in search of a new market as the troop pullback continues, has not yet found its way to U.S. shores in any great quantity.

The intelligence report said that in numerous cases Latin American residents in the United States have been discovered to be large-scale heroin traffickers, with Cuban dealers especially active in the big cities of the east coast, Gulf coast and California.

"In several current cases," it said, "Latin Americans arranged shipments of heroin from Europe to the United States by the most expedient means at their command, either direct or through Latin America."

Discussing marijuana, the report said that Mexico remained the prime U.S. source, with 90 per cent of the weed consumed in the United States coming from that country.

But it noted also that seizures are massive, with 253,575 pounds taken in 1970 by U.S. authorities, and in a 16-month period ending last March, the Mexican government destroyed 3,647 marijuana fields.

The third major dangerous drug in Latin America, cocaine, is apparently finding a renaissance in the United States. In 1960 federal agents seized six pounds, in 1970 they seized 589 pounds and in the first nine months of 1971, the latest reporting period, a total of 493 pounds of cocaine was seized.

There is a high profit involved, the report said, with farmers in the Andean region of South America raising the coca bush as a cash crop, on land where there is no substitute crop possible, because of hilly terrain and poor soil.

The farmer-refiner can produce a pound of cocaine for $300. Its sale price in La Paz is $1,000 and in New York the same pound will command as much as $10,000.

For Consolidation...

Your Herald supports the proposed consolidation of Maysfield Common School District and Cameron Independent School District.

We supported a proposal to consolidate Cameron and Milano districts, which Milano rejected and Cameron supported two years ago. Milano has about 300 students and some justification for maintaining a 12-grade system.

Maysfield has only 35 to 40 students and two teachers. In this day, there is no way a student can be adequately instructed by two teachers through the first eight grades. Practically any other student in Texas will have gone to a larger school with wider alternatives for subject matter and instruction.

What Others Say...

Watch Your Language...

Youth -- members of the generation that places so much importance on communication -- seems to be in danger of abandoning language. Many young people now are writing a kind of code that signals, in an instant, just how high and hip the speaker is or wants to be. The new language, sometimes colorful and expressive, is more often only flat and repetitive, filled with the same toneless superlatives, the same fuzzy adjectives. The words are few, not enough to fill a dictionary page, but enough to build a vocabulary around: trip, hassle, far out, dig, head, man, together, where I'm at, chick, dude, like (half-built bridge to a never-completed simile) and, of course,

It is reasonable for both districts to make the decision to consolidate. Loss of this school is a gain for the students and Cameron Independent School District, which has the facilities and plans bonding an expansion for even more for these and other Milam area students.

Maysfield would continue the first six grades this year, we understand, sending junior high - age students to Cameron by bus.

Branchville and Marek are two rural districts which have consolidated with Cameron during the past few years.

It would appear a good time for Maysfield to make this wise decision. For the students.

you know. "You know" speaks most eloquently for the growing non-verbal ineloquence. What it really means is "you know what I mean, so why should I bother to say it?"

Individual voices have become less and less identifiable in the great leveling-off process that attaches "wise" to the ends of nouns ("moneywise, happiness-wise..."), "hopefully" to the beginnings of sentences. "Communication," too, has become a cliché, but the problem of communicating is now a very real one. As the quality of language degenerates, so does the quality of communication -- and the quality of thought.

Crocodile Threatened By Ladies Fashion Demands

By Adrienne Farrell

SWITZERLAND
The crocodile, after surviving 140 million years, is now threatened with extinction by ladies' fashion.

According to experts of the World Wildlife Fund based here, the demand for crocodile skin to make ladies shoes and handbags the past 25 years has reduced the number of the great reptiles to where they will soon be extinct unless strict conservation measures are taken.

The crocodiles adaptability to land and water, its long life, high reproduction rate and wide distribution have enabled it to survive virtually unchanged for 140 million years -- a living fossil providing a direct link with the days of the dinosaurs.

Yet in the past two decades, human greed and female vanity have brought it to the verge of annihilation.

A round - the world crocodile survey makes dismal reading except for those who prefer their reptiles piecemeal in the form of shoes, purses, cigarette cases, belts and bags.

In parts of Africa and South America, crocodiles and alligators are hunted from boats with high-velocity rifles and searchlights, their shining eyes at night on the water's edge providing excellent targets.

In central Africa one hunter alone claimed responsibility for the slaughter of 45,000 crocodiles along most of the Nile, where they were common up to World War II; crocodiles are now scarce, though the crocodiles in the Murchison Falls National Park on the Victoria Nile in Uganda still remain one of the tourist sights of the world.

In northern Australian rivers, crocodiles have been shot out of existence. In Queensland, baby crocodiles -- drowned, stuffed and varnished, with beady eyes and scarlet mouths -- were until recently sold to tourists. In India, crocodiles are protected, but poachers still do a flourishing trade in skins.

An alligator today brings seven or eight dollars a foot, and a nine-foot crocodile is worth as much as $100, so poachers find it well worth while to violate conservation laws.

The World Wildlife Fund describes as "gloomy" the future of all crocodilians (alligators, caimans, crocodiles and gavials). Most of them are being depleted for commercial purposes more rapidly than they can reproduce.

Gov. Talks Special Session

BY BILL BOYKIN

AUSTIN

Gov. Preston Smith is threatening a special legislative session on insurance reform.

In a statewide, televised speech, he announced he will ask the Legislature to abolish the paid, three-member State Insurance Board, which he charges is company dominated.

Angered by Senate rejection July 7 of his longtime friend, Larry Teaver, to the Board, Smith blamed the defeat on the "powerful insurance lobby."

His recommendations to "completely reorganize and reform the regulation of the insurance industry" will be delivered to a special session this year or to the next regular session in January.

Reaction to his speech, the Governor said, will determine whether he goes through with the special session, but he isn't sure whether the public yet supports reform strongly enough to insure action.

Dallas Sen. Oscar Mauzy, a leader in the move to reject Teaver, challenged Smith to follow through and call the session immediately. He said he opposed Teaver, not because he was a consumer advocate on the Board, but for "lack of character and ability."

Smith in his tv speech announced 19 vetoes of items totalling $6.35 million from the 1973 appropriations bill. Among the vetoed items: funds to acquire facilities for an A & I University center at Corpus Christi; a legislative scheme to thwart construction of a new highway building near the capitol by forcing creation of a state

"garden park" on the site; $1 million for a Fort Worth state school and $1.22 million for new branch junior college in Coleman, Lubbock, Haskell and Palestine.

$200 MILLION TAX

The House Revenue and Taxation Committee received advice the Legislature may be looking at a $200 million money shortage for the next biennium when it reports next year.

James McGrew, Texas Research League director, told the Committee spending from general revenue and other key state funds will jump $700 million over the present level next biennium. But he figured an additional $375 to $400 million in revenue is anticipated from present "growth" taxes, and a $100 million federal welfare fare windfall is foreseeable.

The Committee also was reminded repeatedly of the likely effect of a federal court decision (now on appeal) holding the present method of financing public schools by ad valorem taxation unconstitutional. And a University of Texas official suggested property, income and sales taxes are all necessary to get "maximum equity" in the tax system.

Governor Smith strongly disagreed with McGrew's forecast and said there is a strong possibility no new taxes at all will be needed next year.

Man 40, Dies In County Jail

A prisoner in Milam County Jail was found dead Thursday and said to have died of natural causes or heart attack, according to Justice of the Peace Jesse Brock.

A death certificate was not completed as of 8:30 a.m. Saturday.

The man was believed to be a Lewis Thomas Martin, about 40, of Rockdale. His body was picked up by Marek-Burns-Laywell ambulance and taken to Rockdale's Phillip & Luckey Funeral Home, according to JP Brock.

Brock said prisoners in the jail had seen the man alive at 8:30 a.m. Thursday and the man apparently died sometime between 8:30 a.m. and 11 a.m. that day. Brock said he looked at the body at the door of the jail as it was brought out.

JP Brock told The Herald the man had been sent to Milam County Jail several days earlier by Rockdale authorities.

Funeral arrangements were pending in Rockdale at presstime. No knowledge of next-of-kin was known, according to Phillips & Luckey spokesmen.

The Informed Consumer

This is the time of the year when many people like to hit the open road. A growing number of these vacationers use recreational vehicles in their travels to the quiet spots away from it all.

Most of the vehicles are equipped with propane gas appliances. While the propane gas cooking, heating and refrigeration systems are a real convenience for the modern traveler, there are some common sense safety precautions which should be taken.

I would like to point out that propane is perfectly safe under normal conditions. But, should leaks occur, it can be highly explosive. And if the propane gas system in the recreational vehicle is not properly maintained, then these vehicles can definitely be very hazardous.

You should check to see that all propane connections are well sealed, but do not overtighten since this could split the joints and cause a gas leak.

The LP gas containers should be mounted outside the vehicle. Be sure that both top and bottom of compartments for LP gas containers are ventilated and completely sealed off from the interior of the vehicle.

Use common sense and learn how to handle your vehicle with safety. Drive carefully and insure that your return will be as pleasant as your departure.

Accent on Health

J.E. PEAVY, M.D., Commissioner of Health

When the school bells ring this fall, Texas school children will be among the best-immunized in the country.

The reason, according to State Health Commissioner Dr. James E. Peavy, is the state's compulsory immunization law.

Under the regulations, grade school level children (and those attending day care centers) must be immunized against five communicable diseases -- diphtheria, tetanus, polomyellitis, measles and rubella. Measles immunization is not required if there is a history of measles illness. And smallpox, which originally was a required immunization, was removed from the list by the State Board of Health, which sets immunization guidelines for the schools.

Junior high school, high school and college-level students have lesser requirements for immunizations, said Dr. Peavy.

The Health Commissioner noted that immunizations should have been started by last January 1 and must be completed, according to age levels, before starting school this fall.

"I feel that almost all school children will have completed these requirements," said Dr. Peavy. About the only misunderstanding in the regulation was in the college level, he said. "If a collegian is 19 years of age or over, the only requirement is for the adult type tetanus-diphtheria immunization, or booster shot within the past 10 years."

Dr. Peavy said local health units throughout the state contributed toward meeting the large demand for immunizations, and private physicians have boosted the total. In 1971 almost 4.5 million doses of vaccine were administered to Texans during regular local health unit clinics and special campaigns.

Dr. Peavy said the immunization law is a good one -- one that had been needed for a long time. It forces parents to protect their children and in so doing protect themselves, their friends and relatives from these preventable diseases.

"We are anxious to have children immunized long before they start to school," said Dr. Peavy. "In fact, they should start in the first year of life," he said.

Lone Star Increases Exploration

DALLAS

In an expanded effort to find additional oil and gas reserves, Lone Star Producing Company will spend more than $29 million in 1972 for its exploration budget, an upward revision of some $13 million, according to W. C. McCord, president of Lone Star Gas Company, parent company of Lone Star Producing Company.

The revised figure covers all exploration costs including seismic, leasing and drilling activities. Most of the total budget will be spent in Texas and Oklahoma where Lone Star has its gas distribution systems. In comparison, Lone Star Producing Co. spent a total of $19 million for exploration in 1971.

So far in 1972 the Producing Company has drilled 51 wells in the U. S., more than was drilled for all of 1971. The company projects that another 50 wells will be drilled during the rest of the year.

W. C. McCord commented: "Lone Star Producing Co.'s drilling program spans the entire range of exploration in that it includes a search for high risk giant oil and gas fields. At the same time, the company is intensifying its efforts in low-risk exploration and development ventures. The pany is committed to increasing Lone Star's reserve position, and the revised drilling program is evidence that we are doing just that."

Legislature To Hear Reorganization Of Courts

AUSTIN — A proposal for the first complete modernization of the Texas court system in 96 years will be submitted to the state legislature next January.

The heart of the modernization plan is a new judicial article to replace present Article V of the state constitution.

The new article was drafted by the Chief Justice's Task Force for Court Improvement, headed by Robert W. Calvert, Chief Justice of the Texas Supreme Court.

The plan is designed to improve the quality of justice in Texas courts and permit cases to be handled more quickly and efficiently. All present judges and other court personnel would be absorbed into the new system, and no increase in the number of courts or judges would be required.

"This proposal will benefit every county in the state," Calvert said. "For example, it will give every county the advantages now enjoyed only by the 26 counties that have county courts at law."

In the more populous counties in Texas, the legislature has created county courts at law, which are staffed by judges who are lawyers and devote full time to their judicial duties.

In smaller counties, however, all county-level cases must be heard by the county judge, who in most cases is not a lawyer and who also has administrative duties as head of the county commissioners court.

The Task Force's proposal calls for a statewide system of county-level courts staffed by fulltime lawyer-judges.

Each incumbent county judge who is not a lawyer would continue to preside over the county commissioners and would devote full time to his administrative responsibilities as head of the county government.

County judges who are lawyers would be given an option of continuing as heads of the county government or becoming judges in the new county-level court system.

"The goal is to provide a qualified judge to hear every contested case, no matter where it is tried," Calvert said. The proposal calls for state payment of judges' salaries, with the cost to be offset by fines and other responsibilities as head of the county government. County judges who are lawyers would be given an option of continuing as heads of the county government or becoming judges in the new county-level court system.

Another proposal that would benefit smaller communities is one permitting criminal appeals to be heard by the 14 regional courts of civil appeals. At present, all appeals in criminal cases must go to the Court of Criminal Appeals in Austin.

WHY WE ARE CHANGING OUR GASOLINE NAMES FROM ENCO TO EXXON

As you may know, we sell our petroleum products under three different names in different parts of the country. We would much rather have just one name that you can easily recognize as you travel.

We searched long and hard for a distinctive name that was totally different and could not be confused with any other trademark in the world. That's why we developed the name Exxon*. And to help you get acquainted with Exxon, we're now changing the names on our gasoline pumps to Exxon. Exxon Plus and Exxon Extra.

This is the first step in a plan to change the names of our service stations to Exxon in the near future. Soon, you'll have just one name to look for, coast to coast.

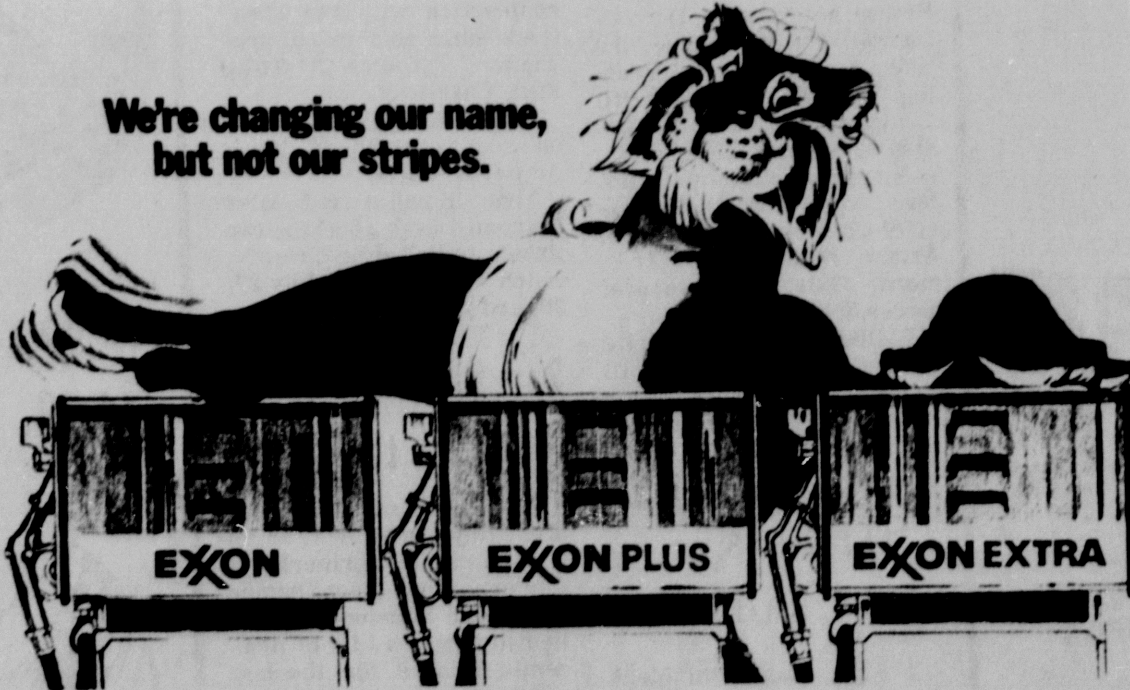

The quality of our gasolines won't change when we change to Exxon. You'll get the same fine gasolines you've been buying from us all along.

Our retailers are the same good people who've always helped you. But now, they'll be filling your tank with Exxon gasolines.

Soon, we'll have just one name coast to coast.

LEGISLATURE OF THE
STATE OF TEXAS:
Section 1. That Article III, Constitution of the State of Texas, be amended by adding a new Section 65 to read as follows:

"Section 65. Wherever the Constitution authorizes an agency, instrumentality, or subdivision of the State to issue bonds and specifies the which may be paid on such bonds issued pursuant to such constitutional authority, such rates not to exceed a weighted average annual interest rate of 6%. All Constitutional provisions specifically setting rates in conflict with this provision are hereby repealed." This amendment shall become effective upon its adoption.

Sec. 2. The foregoing constitutional amendment shall be submitted to vote of the qualified electors of this State at the general election to be held on the first Tuesday after the first Monday in November, 1972, at which election the ballots shall
be printed to provide for vot-authority presently having a specified interest ceiling."

PUBLIC NOTICE CONSTITUTIONAL AMENDMENT

Proposed
NUMBER 5 ON THE BALLOT (HJR 35)
General Election November 7, 1972

BE IT RESOLVED BY THE LEGISLATURE OF THE
STATE OF TEXAS:
Section 1. That Section 2, Article VIII, Constitution of the State of Texas, be amended to read as follows:

"Section 2. (a) All occupation taxes shall be equal and uniform upon the same class of subjects within the limits of the authority levying the tax;
but the legislature may, by general laws, exempt from taxation public property used for public purposes; actual places of religious worship, also any property owned by a church or by a strictly religious society for the exclusive use as a dwelling place for the ministry of such church or religious society, and which yields no revenue whatever to such church or religious society; provided that such exemption shall not extend to more property than is reasonably necessary for a dwelling place and in no event
more than one acre of land; places of burial not held for private or corporate profit; all buildings used exclusively and owned by persons or associations of persons for school purposes and the necessary furniture of all schools and property used exclusively and reasonably necessary in conducting any association engaged in promoting the religious, educational and physical development of boys, girls, young men or young women operating under a State or National organization of like character; also the endowment funds of such institutions of learning and religion not used with a view to profit; and where the same are invested in bonds or mortgages, or in land or other property which has been and shall hereafter be bought in by such institutions under foreclosure sales made to satisfy or protect such bonds or mortgages, that such exemption of such land and property shall continue only for two years after the purchase of the same at such sale by such institutions and no longer, and institutions of purely public charity; and all laws exempting property from taxation other than the property mentioned in this Section shall be null and void.
(b) The Legislature may, by general law, exempt property owned by a disabled veteran or by the surviving spouse and surviving minor children of a disabled veteran. A disabled veteran is a veteran of the armed services of the United States who is classified as disabled by the Veterans' Administration or by a successor to that agency; or the military service in which he served. A veteran who is certified as having a disability of less than 10 percent is not entitled to an exemption. A veteran having a disability rating of not less than 10 percent nor more than 30 percent may be granted an exemption from taxation for property valued at up to $1,500. A veteran having a disability rating of more than 30

percent but not more than 50
percent may be granted an exemption from taxation for
property valued at up to $2,000. A veteran having a disability rating of more than 50
percent but not more than 70
percent may be granted an exemption from taxation for
property valued at up to $2,500. A veteran who has a disability rating of more than 70 percent, or a veteran who has a disability rating of not less than 10 percent and has attained the age of 65, or a disabled veteran whose disability consists of the loss or loss of use of one or more limbs, total blindness in one or both eyes, or paraplegia, may be granted an exemption from taxation for property valued at up to $3,000. The spouse and children of any member of the United States Armed Forces who loses his life while on active duty will be granted an exemption from taxation for
property valued at up to $2,500. A deceased disabled veteran's surviving spouse and children may be granted an exemption which in the aggregate is equal to the exemption to which the decedent was entitled at the time he died."
Sec. 2. The foregoing constitutional amendment shall be submitted to a vote of the qualified electors of this state at an election to be held on the first Tuesday after the first Monday in November, 1972, at
which election the ballots shall
be printed to provide for voting for or against the proposition: "The constitutional amendment allowing certain tax exemptions to disabled veterans, their surviving spouses and surviving minor children, and the surviving spouses and surviving minor children of members of the armed forces who lose their life while on active duty."

Taylor Jaycees Set Rodeo

The 10th annual Taylor Jaycee trail ride, dance, and barbecue will be held on August 16 and will arrive at Rowe Valley on the San Gabriel River about 5 p.m. that afternoon to take part in the evening festivities consisting of a barbecue meal and dance.

Music will be provided by the "Jimmy Heap Show," featuring Ken Idaho. Food serving will begin at 5:30 p.m. and the dance will begin at 8 p.m.

Trail bosses for this year's ride will be Ivan West, Archie Hobbs, and Carl Voight. Honorary trail boss will be Tom Alderson, a Taylor Attorney and CPA who is moving to Arkansas. Alderson is a past Jaycee president, trail boss, and served as master of ceremonies for many Jaycee programs.

A trail ride queen will be named and she will receive a gift from the Jaycees and be presented each night at the Taylor rodeo on August 17, 18 and 19.

Cars Inundated By Agnes Being Sold In Southwest

Potential buyers of bargain-priced new or late model used cars should exercise extreme caution before making a purchase. Wm. M. Coffey, Manager of the American Automobile Association, Texas Division, said today, since thousands of flood-damaged vehicles are being sold throughout the country with no warning of their condition.

The cars, he said, are being sold at low cost by car dealers, many of whom do issue a verbal warning of their condition, or by salvagers to so-called "gypsy" car dealers. These dealers then ship most of the automobiles to areas in the nation, particularly the South and Southwest, that did not experience the torrential floods that followed tropical storm Agnes.

The cars, which may not be safe to drive or may have a severely limited operational life, are then sold for bargain prices as undamaged or new to unsuspecting consumers.

In Pennsylvania alone, at least 35 thousand cars were flood-damaged, and there is no estimate of how many other cars were damaged in New York, New Jersey, Maryland, Virginia and West Virginia.

Before even considering a purchase, Coffey said, the consumer should visit several established licensed auto dealers.

The individual seeking a used car is in the greatest danger of being tricked, he said, since it is difficult to obtain comparative prices on older cars. The buyer should beware of a fleet of cars suddenly going on special auction in a vacant lot or field. If he is considering a particular car, he should ask to see the title to make certain it is signed by the dealer -- the signature is required by law. If he is suspicious of the car's condition, the consumer should contact the previous owner, whose name and address are listed on the title.

If a car is being considered for purchase, Coffey said this inspection should be made:

- Check all gauges on the dashboard to make certain they are accurate. Cars that have had water in them up to the dash are likely to show signs of moisture. Those with evidence of this condition will be dangerous to drive no matter how thoroughly they have been reconditioned.

- Lift up carpeting and mats on floor boards and trunk for signs of dirt and water.

- Look for corrosion under the hood, inside and under the car and around bumpers, hub caps, lamps and gas cap.

- Make certain all electrical accessories, including headlights, wipers and turn signals, work repeatedly.

- Flex the wires under the dash to see if they bend or crack. If wires have been wet, rubber hoses and belts under the hood may become dry or brittle.

- Check oil and transmission fluid while the car is running for signs of water.

- Check the interior of the car and the trunk for signs of mud and water. The back seat may be removed to inspect ticking and upholstery. Be certain to check seats and carpeting for any musty odor.

- Start the car several times: If white smoke appears, this a sign the engine has been washed out recently.

- Drive the car over an extended area to make certain it accelerates, shifts and stops smoothly.

- If possible, have the vehicle thoroughly checked out by a diagnostic clinic or expert mechanic -- the fee would be well worth the peace of mind.

Even if an inspection satisfies the consumer that the car is in good condition, Coffey says that before signing a bill of sale he should ask for a written statement from the dealer that the vehicle was not flood-damaged and that he will stand behind whatever warranty is normally in effect from the manufacturer.

LS Gas Warns Of Forgeries

DALLAS Lone Star Gas Company today issued a warning to Texas merchants that a number of forged checks, represented to be Lone Star Gas Company payroll checks, have been cashed.

The forged checks were signed by "S. S. Sampson," not a gas company employee, and were made payable to a "Jack D. McDowell," according to a spokesman for the gas company.

The forger typed the checks, used a check protector, and placed "Lone Star Gas Co." at the bottom right hand corner of the checks. Most of the checks were in the amount of $197.50.

Lone Star Gas spokesman asked that merchants closely examine checks drawn against the company to make certain that none of the forged characteristics are present.

Some Taxpayers To Get Break On Child Care

Employed taxpayers with child care expenses may get a bigger tax break in 1972, according to R. L. Phinney, District Director of Internal Revenue for southern Texas.

The Revenue Act of 1971 has greatly liberalized the deduction for the care of children, disabled dependents and disabled spouses. Beginning in 1972, taxpayers with adjusted gross incomes of $18,000 or less may be able to deduct up to $400 per month for household and dependent care expenses.

Phinney said the deduction is reduced 50 cents for each dollar of income over $18,000. For example, a taxpayer with an adjusted gross income of $20,000 would be limited to $3,800 (the maximum annual deduction of $4,800 less one-half of $2,000).

To qualify, a taxpayer must be employed and provide over one-half the cost of maintaining a household for a dependent child under 15, a disabled dependent of any age, or a disabled spouse.

"For the first time," Phinney said "household expenses incurred to permit the taxpayer to be gainfully employed may also be deducted. For example, amounts paid for the services of a maid, cook or other domestic help can qualify."

Expenses incurred outside the home for the care of a child under 15 (as, for example, in a day care center) may also qualify. However, expenses outside the home are limited to $200 per month for one child, $300 for two children or $400 for three or more children. Also, these expenses shall not include educational expenses incurred for a child in the first or higher grade.

Disabled Veterans Checks To Increase

Nearly 2.2 million veterans with military service-connected disabilities will receive checks with 10 percent cost-of-living increases in September, Jack Coker, Veterans Administration Regional Office Director, reported today.

President Nixon signed Public Law 92-328 granting compensation increases June 30. The increases won't go into effect until August 1. Allowances for dependents of veterans rated at least 50 percent disabled are included in the increases, the first since those provided under Public Law 91-376 two years ago.

Coker stressed that the increases will be paid automatically, and that eligible veterans need not contact the agency to receive them.

$95,000 Grant Goes To Kinsolving

A $95,000 grant to continue support of Kinsolving Canyon Lodge, a home for troubled youths, to the Central Texas Council of Governments, Belton, was approved by Governor Preston Smith.

The money will come from the Criminal Justice Council, which oversees statewide law enforcement planning and administers funds from the U. S. Department of Justice for crime control projects in Texas.

Kinsolving Canyon Lodge provides counseling for young people in a residential setting, so as to divert the potential offender from the criminal justice system. Although the major portion of this program is geared to meet the need of the 11 to 17-year old child, the lodge will accept children younger and older in crisis situations.

Counties served by the Central Texas COG are: Bell, Coryell, Hamilton, Lampasas, Milam, Mills and San Saba.

Hereford Bull Test Set At Madisonville

The Texas Hereford certified bull test, which has been at Corsicana for the last two years, will move this fall to Madisonville, with larger facilities to test Hereford bulls.

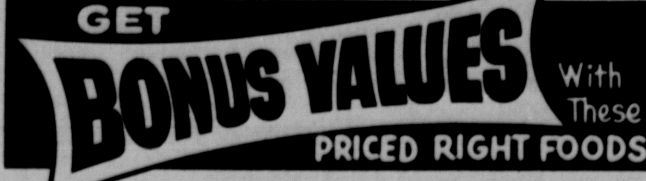

The 7 J Feed Lot between Madisonville and Crockett has been leased for the test. The Hereford bulls will be delivered in September and will come off the test and be sold on March 10, 1973. Leon Noak, of Rockdale, was elected a vice president of the organization. He pledged Hereford bulls for the test at the first meeting.

The main timber producing area of East Texas comprises 11,500,000 acres.
